

WESTERLY'S FIRE CHIEF MOVES

Gets Nearer the Hub to be Nearer the Firehouse—Woman's Exchange Reports Bigger Demand than Supply of Foodstuffs During 1910—Taking on New Hands Daily at Granite Works.

George W. Beverly, who died Friday at his home, Glenview farm, Seabrook, Mass., aged 47, was trainer of Prince Albert, a notable and other famous horses. He was one of the most widely known horsemen of New England and had bred, trained and kept many racers. He had conducted the Glenview farm for the past seven years, three years ago buying the place from Earl Potter, by whom he was employed as manager. During that time Prince Albert spent several winters at the stock farm. Mr. Beverly leaves his wife and one son.

He formerly conducted a livery and sale stable in Main street, Westerly, in the rear of the building now occupied by A. R. Collins, and the Beverly sign still remains on the building he formerly leased.

During the past two years there has been considerable criticism that was not wholly justified, against Chief Beverly. Samuel G. Cottrell because he lived on Quarry Hill, far removed from the central firehouse, and the business center of the city. The chief was qualified to take charge pending the arrival of the chief or that in the future of the chief or his assistants to arrive at the outset, the rules of the fire department provide that the senior officer of the fire companies act as chief. So there was not much cause for criticism against the chief because he was not among the first to arrive at the fire.

The chief had a telephone installed in his Quarry Hill home and special arrangements made with the telephone exchange to call him at night for every fire alarm, and he never left home to go to his work without telling how he could be reached by telephone. In order to respond to the call for fire with the least possible delay.

However, to be of more satisfying service to the residents of Westerly, the chief had a telephone in the firehouse, and in order to be in closer touch with the firehouse and the care of the fire alarm system, he has moved from Quarry Hill to the John Perrier house in Granite street, which is located about a thousand feet from the central firehouse.

The annual meeting of the Westerly exchange for women's work was held at the residence of Mrs. Harriet Cottrell in Elm street, and was presided over by Mrs. George N. Cottrell, president; Mrs. William Clark, vice president; Mrs. John Champlin, secretary; Mrs. John Baldwin, treasurer; Miss Ellen Baldwin, manager.

Reports showed that during the year there was a falling off in the amount of goods sold, which was caused by a decrease in the number of contributors, while the demands for foodstuffs, especially in the summer months, is above the supply, and that there is ample opportunity for those who are disposed to cook to the required exchange standard to dispose of their goods at a profit.

The treasurer reported: Number of consignments 45, amount of sales $9,038.98, amount paid consignors $3,129.75, commission paid treasurer $904.23. The articles sold were: Loaves of bread 17,155, loaves of cake 6,784, cookies 28,455, doughnuts 55,635, tea cakes 13,793, candy 2,069, turnover pies 7,285, preserves 1,084, butter 253, pounds of candy 58, miscellaneous articles 25,460. The exchange retains a commission of 10 per cent. for the sale of the goods. Cash on hand $569.90.

PAINTED FINGER NAILS CURED

"I have suffered from the same trouble (painted finger nails) for many years of my life. The first time of its occurrence, perhaps twenty-five years ago, after trying home remedies without getting helped, I asked my doctor to prescribe for me, but it was not for a year or more that my nails and fingers were cured. The inflammation and suppuration began at the base of the finger nail. Sometimes it was so painful that I had to use a powerful anesthetic. After the pus was discharged the swelling would go down until the next period of inflammation, possibly more or less, and so it went on for many years. I had sometimes as many as three fingers in this state at one time. Perhaps ten years later, I began again to suffer from the same trouble. I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did not get the soap exclusively, but I rubbed the Cuticura Ointment on the base of the nail every night thoroughly, and so there was no suppuration, nor inflammation, the nails grew out clean again. One box of Cuticura Ointment was all that I used. (Signed) Mrs. Margaret E. Horton, N. Y., Apr. 13, 1910. On Sept. 21, Mrs. Horton writes: 'I have had no further return of the trouble with my finger nails.'"

An Appeal to Wives and Mothers

Save the Drinking Husband or Son by Using ORRINE. Can be Given Secretly.

No more terrible affliction can come to any home than the excessive use of intoxicants by husband or son. Think of the money wasted and drink which is needed in the home to purchase food and clothing. If you have a drinking husband or son, give him ORRINE.

It will prove an efficient aid in deterring him from drinking. Thousands of women have been made happy because ORRINE has saved their homes from the wreck of dissipation and drunkenness. Start using ORRINE today.

We are so confident that ORRINE will benefit the person who drinks, that we say to all Wives and Mothers, you can save a trial and if it fails to benefit, we will refund your money.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in any food or drink. ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. ORRINE is sold by all druggists. Write for Free ORRINE Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to ORRINE CO., 847 Orange Building, Washington, D. C.

Contractor O'Donovan, Building West Side School, Assigns to Williamstown Firm—Also Building Oral School Annex.

Sunday it was learned through the building committee of the West Side school that the contractor, J. J. O'Donovan, of Norwich, who had been building the school, had been assigned to a Williamstown firm who had been aiding him for some months past and the concern had notified Frank W. Batty, chairman of the building committee, that they would go on with the work of the schoolhouse which is not yet completed and which was to be finished by the first of September after several excuses had been made by Mr. O'Donovan. The building committee did not push him right to the time because several changes had to be made and they were very lenient with him. In all probability a meeting will be held by the committee to ascertain what can be done. There is still a sum of money due Mr. O'Donovan and will be given him just as soon as the work is finished. The building is far enough along to let school open after four weeks' vacation but is a long way from being finished. Mr. O'Donovan also has the contract at the Mystic Oral school to construct the new fireproof annex which is about half completed and which is being very much on account of the crowded condition of the old wooden building.

Those Awful Chilblains
Who has not experienced the painful result of exposure to the cold melting snow or the wet weather of the winter? If disregarded, you may suffer until the summer, when nature will relieve. If you want immediate alleviation, apply a solution of Cabot's Sulpho-Naphthol in proportion of a teaspoonful to a pint of water, bathe the feet thoroughly before retiring, and enjoy a good night's rest.

Sulpho-Naphthol can be used for so many purposes about the house, most housekeepers would not think of being without it. It kills disease germs and helps keep your house clean and sweet.

Solves a Deep Mystery.
"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader of Lewisburg, Va., for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters. In curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me. For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy.
